Tasks Multiuser is a database-driven software application designed to offer an easy way of performing group tasks, such as project management and document processing. This software aims to manage all team-based data so that team members can quickly and efficiently collaborate. The program includes a scheduling feature that allows you to set up meetings and appointments with clients. While giving you complete control over your server, this software program enables you to create a virtual server to which a group of users can connect. This gives you complete control over each member of your team and makes it easy to grant various levels of access to them, based on their position in your group. The administration tool also offers a logging feature that tracks each user's activity and lets you trace the activities of each team member and task done.
